Dance - inner night emotional evaluation of the rhythmic tides of one's sexual life; also, a lesson in the necessity to observe rhythms in spiritual life.

Dancing - when one is dancing in a dream, he is being taught the law of rhythm in the inner planes. Dancing in a dream also shows that one should learn how to relate himself rhythmically with close persons or fellow initiates. If the dance is tribal, this indicates that one has yet something of the sensual tribal-genesis moods to overcome. To experience dancing in the night, as one often does after he enters the Path, is to set up extended waves lengths of receptivity in the time clock of the etheric body. Such persons, while awake, can identify the audible sound in a tree, in a piece of sculpture, in a waterfall, in a butterfly, in a rainbow, or in any living thing produced by God. Music can be heard and lifted into sounds, harmonies and melodies, and passed on into the living action of civilizations, nations and persons. (It has been noted that sometimes people with inner hearing sometimes become physically deaf.)

Daytime - physical consciousness, the night of the soul (the soul is the sun of the ego). In the daytime, man must depend upon his senses to determine what he experiences and what he knows through experiencing.

Death (fear of) (dc) - materialistic fear; glamour fantasy.

Death (no fear of) (ark) - void of materialistic fear or glamour fantasy.
